H. T. HILL, DARBYVILLE, KILLED IN COLUMBUS

WELL KNOWN FARMER DIES OF INJURIES

Automobile Collides With Street Car—Leaves Wife
and Five Children.

Harvey T. Hill, 50, prominent Darbyville farmer and brother-in-law of Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter, was almost instantly killed at 11 p. m. Thursday when his Ford coupe collided head-on with an
eastbound traction car in the Mound-st viaduct, Columbus.

He was taken to Mt. Carmel
hospital immediately after the accident and died of a fractured skull before he was taken off the stretcher. Both his arms and legs
were also fractured.

There were no witnesses to the
crash and just a minute after it happened two Columbus policemen, Lehman and Ernest, came
past the scene of the wreck and
rushed Hill to the hospital, but it was too late.

The deceased man is survived
by his widow, Christina Porter
Hill and five children, Orval,
superintendent of the Darbyville
schools, and at present a patient
in Mt. Carmel hospital suffering
from acid burns, John, at home,
Marvine, teacher in the Walnut
school, Florence, a senior at Darbyville high school, and Carl, at home. His father, Ezra Hill, survives him and lives at 51 Ogden-
ave., Columbus, where the body
was taken from Mt. Carmel hospital.

Two brothers, Ernest Hill, William Joseph funeral director, and Joe Hill, Orient, and one sister
living in Cleveland, also survive.
The body was to be taken to his home in Darbyville Friday after which funeral arrangements will be made.

WOMAN BADLY CUT IN WRECK

Mrs. Van Gundy, Tarlton, Injured In Collision Thursday Evening.

Mrs. Samuel VanGundy of Tarlton, was severely cut and bruised Thursday at 5:30 p. m. in an automobile accident on the old Tarlton road just north of the Scioto bridge. The machine
in which Mrs. VanGundy was riding was driven by her son, Gerald, who was also cut and bruised.
The other car figuring in the collision was said to have been driven by Earl Wadell of the Tarlton rd who lives near the scene of the accident.

Mrs. VanGundy whose injuries
consisted of severe cuts on her
right leg, chin and head, was treated by Dr. D. V. Courtright.
She is staying with her sister,
Mrs. Charles Cook, on E. Franklin-st. She was brought to Circleville in the automobile of Joseph Wolfe.

RETURNED TO HOME

Mrs. M. H. Lowe, S. Court-st.,
who was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Monday for observation, was returned to her home Friday.

M. CLEMENCEAU'S DOCTOR NOT OPTIMISTIC OVER CONDITION

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Injections of camphor oil administered to former Premier Clemenceau this afternoon relieved his suffering somewhat, it was stated by Dr. Degennes, one of the physicians attending him.

Dr. Degennes issued the following statement when he left M.
Clemenceau's home at 1:15 o'clock
this afternoon after examining
the aged statesman for a half an hour.

"The patient is again lucid. He said he was suffering great pain
in his stomach but I thought it unwise to continue the morphine injections so I injected camphor oil
instead. M. Clemenceau is now

Snow Descends Mercury At 21

A temperature of 21 degrees
accompanied by snow was the
rather unusual weather in Cir-
cleville Friday, and if it keeps up,
there will be an old fashioned Thanksgiving Day, such as has not been experienced in this vicinity for a long time.

Unwary automobile owners who could not believe that there would be such a heavy freeze so early
in the winter, were thawing out
radiators Friday morning, and
hunting up anti-freeze liquids at any price.

LOCAL PLANE CLUB TO MEET

Members Will Discuss Events
Of Past Few Months In Monday Session.

A meeting of the Circleville
chapter of the National Aeronautic Association has been called for Monday at 8 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of discussing aero-
nautical events which have occurred in the past few months,
and for arranging the winter program of the club.

It is expected that all the members of the local club will be present for the meeting and discussion.

LOVE TRIANGLE IS CAUSE OF MAN'S MURDER

Insurance Man and Dead
Man's Wife To Face
Coroner's Jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A triangle
of illicit love that now has only
one angle—that of murder—faced
a coroner's jury here today after
a Snyder-Gray love killing unfolded itself to police with the death of a husband, killed by a
wife and her alleged clandestine
lover because of his insurance and
because of the age-old story that he was "in the way."

The alleged lovers, Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, 22, expectant mother,
and Samuel Howard Dorris, 35,
dapper insurance agent, in cells
today babbled conflicting stories,
the wife with grief and remorse
and the insurance agent with
cockiness of his trade, both un-
knowing that the alleged victim
of their machinations, William O'Brien had died of three bullet wounds. Both are to tell the final story to a coroner's jury
today.

Into this one of the oldest
stories of mankind—is woven all
the sordidity of a woman who loved wrongfully and a man, married, father of two children, who crept from the very threshold of
his home, to make love to the wife-of-a-man-who-worked-not
only all day, but nights as well,
in order to provide luxuries for
a wife whom police say was un-
true to him since last March.

ADMIT SHOOTING
Dorris, in his various confessions,
admitted firing the four shots at O'Brien while he was in his apartment preparing to go to work.
Yet, in view of Mrs. O'Brien's statements, and Dorris' earlier
declarations, that Mrs. O'Brien fired several of the shots, detectives said they were not yet convinced they had the true story.

The night before O'Brien was fatally shot, Dorris, according to his own confession, "sneaked" in
to the O'Brien home, into the bedroom of Mrs. O'Brien, as was his habit, while "Bill" the fatal victim of the tragedy, was "catching
up" on long-needed sleep in another bedroom.

Bill came in to kiss his wife
before he shaved that morning.
He went to a closet. There, the confessions reveal, Dorris was in hiding.

There were shots. Dorris said he fired at O'Brien and even when
the wounded man staggered to
the stairway, Dorris dropped him
with a fatal bullet, he confessed.
Dorris, yesterday, said Mrs. O'Brien fired the first shot and that later
he aided her.

The night before Dorris approached Geno, as he called her, and
said, according to his statement
to police: "Geno, Bill is too cruel
to you. I can't stand this sneaking any longer. We've got to find some way of getting rid of Bill, collecting his insurance, making away with my wife, Rose, and leaving together in happiness. You can mother the kids. (He has two.) The first chance I get I'll bump him off."

ENCOURAGED ACT
"Geno" admits she said nothing
to discourage this horrible
declaration of her alleged lover.
Geno expressed no remorse over the shooting. In fact, she insisted Bill has been cruel to her, yet
he worked more than 15 hours a day to provide her with a home
and luxuries which she is alleged to have desecrated by her illicit
love for the landlord of her building.

Mrs. Dorris, patient woman who knew nothing of her husband's alleged infatuation for the attractive young wife clinging to her husband in his cell today, expressing
disbelief that her husband
could have killed a man.

Dorris radiated a rather "smart
aleck" attitude he does not know O'Brien is dead.

the bonds of marriage.

SCIOTO BUSES BEGIN SERVICE

Yellow Vehicles To Be Used
Each Hour Between Cities
On Scioto Trail.

The Scioto Valley's new bus
service was inaugurated Thursday
between Chillicothe-Circleville-Columbus
over the Scioto Trail with big 24-passenger brand new yellow buses.

The service started with a bus
leaving Chillicothe and Columbus
at the same time.

The bus to Columbus was operated by Floyd Acton, Chillicothe
and the bus leaving Columbus
was driven by Dewey Barker.

The first two Circleville persons to travel toward Columbus
on the new buses were Mrs. C.
D. Glosson and Mrs. Boyd Trout.
H. A. Cryder, general superintendent of the bus company, rode
to Circleville on the first bus
from Chillicothe and rode back
to Chillicothe on the first bus
south.

He was inspecting the line and
the time it requires each bus to make the trip over the route.

Buses will be run each day
every two hours between these three cities.

SNOOK MOTION IS OVERRULED

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.— (INS.)—Just one week before he is scheduled to die in the electric chair, the Franklin-co appellate
court today refused to intervene
in the case of Dr. James Howard Snook, confessed and convicted
slayer of his co-ed sweetheart,
Miss Theora K. Hix.

The court of appeals overruled
the petition in error, which had been filed with it, and which is, in substance, a request for a new trial.

E. O. Ricketts, chief of the defense counsel for the philanthropic ex-college professor, said the
legal battle for the life of the now
doomed slayer would be carried to the State supreme court "without delay."

He said a motion for a stay of

SHIPS SPEED TO AID MANY WAVE VICTIMS

Newfoundland Disaster Para-
lyzes Winter Fisheries
In Area.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 22.—
Bearing food and medicinal supplies, government vessels were
steaming at full speed for the south coast of Newfoundland today to bring aid to thousands
left helpless by a gigantic tidal wave which killed 26 persons and
destroyed miles of waterfront
property.

Crippled communications today
still prevented a complete check-
up of the damage wrought when
the huge wall of water rose up
from the sea after a violent
earthquake shock on Monday, undermining towns and hamlets on
the coast and obliterating valuable fishing property.

As soon as word was received
of the disaster the government
steamer Meigle was dispatched to the Burin Peninsula. Which bore
the full brunt of the tidal wave.
Other steamers in the vicinity
are rushing to the scene.

Wireless communication with Burin was re-established early today for the first time since the
earthquake shock and the subsequent tidal wave. Operator Cox of the Burin Station sent a graphic account of the tidal wave
to International News Service
here.

Eight deaths occurred in Point
Au Gaul, seven in Port Au Bras, four at Taylor's Cove, four at Lord's Cove, two at Kelly's Cove and one at Allan's Island,"
Cox's radio read.

Allans Island was swept of
all its fishing stages and stores,
while Point Au Gaul lost all its fishing property, provisions and cool supplies. In addition, three houses and 70 other buildings
were destroyed at the later place.
"Fifteen families are homeless
at Taylor's Cove."

"St. Lawrence and Corbin were swept clean of waterfront property and fishing boats, while Lan-celau lost its fishing gear. Great Burain and Kelly's Cove were stripped of waterfront premises,
and at Port Au Bras, 11 houses, 14 schooners and all dories and
skiffs as well as waterside provisions were carried away or destroyed."

"The post office at St. Lawrence is swinging at anchor in the middle of the harbor. Nothing is left of the Lord's Cove Telegraph office."

Reports from the stricken district indicate that many survivors
of the disaster are suffering keenly from exposure and shock. The fact that the tidal wave swept
in after dark added to the horror and distress, the populace
being rendered panic-stricken as
the rushing wall of water tore
down buildings and homes as if they were matchwood.

Check-up of the property damage as yet is impossible, but it
is apparent the disaster complet-
ly paralyzes the winter fishery,
upon which the people of the Burin Peninsula depend for the necessities of life.

Travelers Light Fags, Car Moves

Two feminine travelers from Michigan were stranded on N.
Court-st Friday morning. It appeared that their car refused to move another inch. They tried thus and they tried that, but not
a sneeze nor a cough from the engine.

So they pulled out their light-
ers and went into a huddle enjoying their lucifers.

Some idea out of their bright
young heads must have worked,
for not long afterwards the car
and the ladies were gone.

WELL KNOWN JUDGE DIES

John W. Goldsberry, Chillico-
the, Taken By Heart Attack Thursday.

John W. Goldsberry, former
judge of the court of common pleas in Ross-co, well-known
here, and one of the most popular barristers in the state, died at his home in Chillicothe at 7:10 a.
m. Thursday. Heart trouble,
super-induced by acute indigestion,
was given as cause for
death.

Judge Goldsberry, whose age
was 77 years, had arisen at the usual time, a little before seven,
Thursday and was taking his usual morning exercise walking
up and down the hallway of his home when he complained of feeling ill. He sat down on a couch
and immediately fell over dead.

He was a native of Highland-co
and was born Oct. 21, 1852. He removed with his family to Frankfort and later removed to Chillicothe.

He was twice elected to the common pleas bench in Ross-co
and was a very able jurist.

Funeral services will probably be held Saturday at a time to be designated, with Rev. E. K. Johnson, pastor of the Walnut-st. M.
E. church officiating. Interment
will be made in Grandview cemetery.

HOLD GEO. WARD RITES SATURDAY

Ward, 71, resident of Jackson-
twp, who died at his home early Thursday, will be held Saturday

MEMBERS OF THREE SERVICE CLUBS ROYALLY ENTERTAIN STATE'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Governor Explains Details of State Government In All Its Factions—His Welfare Policy For Schools—His Road
Program and How It Is Connected With Farm
Relief—Also Tells of Additional Gas Tax.

One hundred and five members of Rotary club, Kiwanis club and Chamber of Commerce and a few of their friends
royally entertained Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and his secretary, Charles Jones, at the Boggs Hotel Thursday evening and in return heard one of the best addresses ever given here.

From the time the governor said "It is, indeed, a great satisfaction to me to come to Circleville and discuss with this representative group of citizens a matter in which we are all mutually interested—"The Enterprise of State Government,"
until he ended his address the enthusiastic gathering paid him
the utmost attention.

The meeting was called to order
by Meeker Terwilliger, who as president of the Rotary club was
the presiding officer at the meeting.

Mr. Terwilliger introduced the president of the Kiwanis club, Tom
A. Renick, who in turn introduced
the members of the Kiwanis club.
A. C. Moore, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced
all members of the Chamber who did not belong to either the Kiwanis or the Rotary clubs. Terwilliger then called all Rotarians to stand.

The song "America" was sung,
followed by an invocation by Rev.
B. C. DeCamp.

More singing, led by Karl Herrmann, was in order before Tom Renick introduced Col. C. E. Groce
as the toastmaster for the evening.
Naming the gathering as "Men
who make the wheels of old Round-town go round," Col. Groce then introduced Gov. Cooper as the speaker of the evening.

Speaking of the highway situation in Pickaway-co Gov. Cooper
not only reflected a keen interest,
but a comprehensive knowledge of
detail which is most interesting
when he said:

"In Pickaway-co you have 805
total miles of roads, of which 118
are on the state or state and federal system, and 687 miles comprise
your county and township system.

"Of the whole state and federal
system of roads in your county
there are no roads without any improvement at all. Of your county
and township system there are no
dirt roads, but there are 685 miles
of gravel roads in Pickaway. It was in the interests of the secondary roads that I supported the recent addition of one cent of gas
tax, insuring that a portion which will equal $1300 to $1500, be by law allocated to each township
for road improvement. This will eventually mean a good road in front of every citizen's property,
as there should be.

"Of course you folks know that
the total income from automobile
license plate sale and gas tax is not retained or expended by your state officials. A great portion of these incomes are expended by
your local city, county and township officials. Let me give you some definite figures. During the first nine months of this year the officials of political divisions and
sub-division of your county received from automobile license
plate sales the sum of $24,150.25;
and from the gas tax income $65-$12.00, making a total of $89,662.25
which can only be expended by lo-

"It seems to me that it is of the highest importance that our citizens acquaint themselves with the various phases of our governmental activity, since these matters directly affect their social and economic well-being.

"With every session of the Legislature, we are confronted with
new problems and continuing demand for the assumption of added
burdens on the part of governmental agencies.

"In my message to the General Assembly on the day following my inauguration as Governor, I recommended that few new laws be enacted and that such enactments be limited to measures, that would
confer benefits upon the citizenry
as a whole.

"My own legislative program, as
contained in the recommendations
made to the assembly, did not exceed twelve proposals for enactment.

"There was some concern, however, when nearly 800 measures

NATION PAYS HOMAGE AS GOOD IS LAID TO REST IN IOWA HOME

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 22.—
All Iowa and the nation gathered here today to pay final tribute to James W. Good, fallen
secretary of war and close friend
of President Hoover.

At the first Presbyterian church
where at 11 o'clock this morning
funeral service were held for the late secretary, Mr. Good's fellow townsmen gathered early to pay
final homage.

Those who could not obtain entrance to the quaint, old fashioned gray stone church stood upon
the steps and the sidewalks outside and overflowing into Cedar Rapids square.

Hundreds of floral offerings—
from Mr. Good's friends in Cedar Rapids and from national figures
in Washington and from others in
all parts of the country, blanketed
the church.

Religious services this morning
were conducted by Dr. Harry M.
Gage, president of Coe College,
from which Mr. Good was graduated, and by the Rev. Robert Little, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. At the conclusion of the church service the casket was taken to Oak Hill
cemetery, preceded by a gun
of honor of the Fourteenth Cavary, from Fort Des Moines. The R.O.T.C. unit from Coe College
and a troop of color bearers and
members of the R.O.T.C. from the University of Iowa.

A battery of artillery from Fort
Des Moines delivered the secrets-
ry of war's salute of 19 guns.

were dropped into the legislative hopper, lest there should be an avalanche of new laws, some of which might do more harm than good.

"It is of the greatest importance that bad legislation be kept off the statute books, since harm from such enactments not infrequently outweigh the good that may be accomplished through favorable legislation.

"The entire number of proposals as finally passed were of a clarifying or a permissible nature and of purely local concern, and it is to the credit of the Assembly to say that not more than 50 bills that were passed and approved were of state-wide significance.

The 88th General Assembly was rather a remarkable one, consisting of a membership which came

NEW TONIC SUCCEEDS BY REASON OF ITS MERIT

Many Years of Research Is the Cause For Spigno's Ability To Perform Seemingly Miracles

Spigno's success is not accidental. It is due entirely to the fact that the formula of this master medicine has been carefully worked out after years of research. Spigno contains no idle ingredients—every one of the elements in this tonic has its specific duty to perform, and does it. Chief among these ingredients is spinach, the value of which has always been well known. Spinach enriches and purifies the blood, furnishes food for the body, and keeps the system clean. Doctors have recommended it for years in diets prescribed for many and varied complaints. In addition to this important component Spigno is made up of a carefully selected assortment of medicinally valuable roots, herbs and barks, such as mandrake, cascara, sarsaparilla, gentian, etc.

Among the many, many residents of Circleville who are anxious to praise this new tonic for what it has done for them is Mrs. John H. Stevenson who resides in Circleville at 426 E. Union St., who speaks as follows:

MRS. JOHN H. STEVENSON.

"The first bottle of Spigno did me more good than seven bottles of another advertised preparation.

My health was terribly poor and I could get no relief from medicines and tonics. Indigestion and stomach pains caused me to experience a tired, aching feeling all the time. Some days I was hardly able to get around. My appetite was poor, gas formed on my stomach and my weight dropped to 99 pounds. I lacked energy and strength. I lacked necessary for me to take pills every night. For years I tried remedies and tonics for which great claims and promises were made, but with no relief. Then I heard of Spigno and decided to try a bottle. The improvement was immediate and wonderful and gave me a renewed hope. I have now taken two bottles and am happy in the knowledge that my troubles are over. I don't have to take pills any more. My stomach troubles and constipation are over. There is no sign of indigestion or gas on the stomach. I have gained weight and am gaining every day, and feel better than I have in years. The tired, aching feeling is all gone and my only regret is that I didn't hear of Spigno sooner."

And there are countless others who have found through personal experience that stomach, liver and bowel complaints, indigestion, constipation and dyspepsia simply cannot withstand the powerful action of Spigno; that rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness quickly disappear before its attack.

Spigno is sold and guaranteed in Circleville by The Mykraniz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. and by all other good druggists in the vicinity.—Adv.

from all walks of life. Labor was represented in this body, bankers, merchants, realtors, doctors, teachers, preachers, editors, lawyers and insurance agents—a truly representative group of citizens of our state.

"The vote on the various measures before the Assembly proved that there was a complete lack of geographical voting.

"It was wholesome to note that prejudices which we have seen in former Assemblies, existing between rural and urban members, were conspicuous by their absence.

"There was team-work and co-operation on the part of the 88th General Assembly. It would be too much to expect 100 per cent approval of a program that carried into the statute books so many important measures.

However, I am confident that the State, as a whole, felt the adjournment of the 88th General Assembly there had been an honest effort to produce worthwhile results, and that since there had been enacted no law that would infringe upon private enterprise or personal initiative and that much had been adopted of a helpful nature, the work of the Assembly was entitled to the highest commendation on the part of the people.

"May I tell you briefly something of the administrative program with which you are no doubt more or less familiar?

"The new election code, making it easy for a recount where there is evidence of fraud at an election, safeguards the sanctity of the ballot. At the same time, we have provided for permanent registration and the consolidation of the Primary date on Presidential years of the State and National Primaries.

"You will readily see that this measure is of great importance to the people as a whole and there will result a saving of about $500,000 on Presidential years, as well as a very great saving through permanent registration.

"This is one of the very important measures which was recommended by the Governor and enacted into law.

"A sound conservation law was enacted, which, beyond question will lift Ohio out of its indifferency in relation to inherited values, which we have been ruthlessly destroying without regard to forthcoming generations.

"A commission of eight members, bi-partisan in its make-up and composed of people interested and active in conservation matters, will have charge of fish propagation, purification of our streams, encouragement of forestation and protection of wild life, and will have complete control of the conservation program. It will also have charge of the State Parks and will have control of making additions to the State Park System.

"I am expecting much, from the operation of this law.

"It has been especially gratifying to sportsmen's leagues through the State. They see in it the first real step in our State for the adoption of a sound conservation program.

TELLS OF PENCE LAW

"The most important enactment, beyond question, was that of the repeal of the Pence Law. This law as it has been in operation permitted public utilities to increase rates before the legality of such increase had been established.

"As a result of the operation of law, these utilities have today more than twenty-five million dollars of the people's money which is in controversy as to its rightful owner. Should the Public Utilities Commission determine that this money must be repaid because of the fact that the increase was not justified, it is needless to say that such repayment would be accomplished with great difficulty and then finally only in part.

"The act has been unpopular from its inception and caused great distrust to exist on the part of the people in their attitude toward public utility corporations. It seemed to me that it conferred a privilege that could not be sustained as a matter of equity and justice and I, therefore, advocated the repeal of the law.

"We have gone far enough with this new law to know that no hardships will be worked on public utilities and we have lifted the burden from the people of paying increased rates for public utilities service until it has been determined that such rates are justified and allowable.

"STATE OFFICE BUILDING

"The various departments of State Government in Columbus are scattered from one end of the city to another. We have the Welfare Department in the eastern end of the City; the Highway Department in another; the Industrial Relations in another; the Commerce Department in many places.

"As a matter of economy and safety, to records and personnel, it was deemed advisable that we proceed with the building of a new State Office Building where we could house all the enterprise of Government in a fire proof building and under one roof.

"The Legislature has frequently passed measures declaring for the necessity of this office building. This year provision was made and money appropriated through taxation for this office building and I have appointed a commission in harmony with the law, consisting of five representative citizens, who have engaged architects and who have now selected a site for the building.

"I hope by Jan. 1931, we shall have this building well on the way to completion. This will result in great economy and convenience to the citizens who have business to transact with these various Departments of Government.

"I am sure it is a most important and constructive piece of legislation that enables us to go forward with this very necessary work.

"EXPLAIN GAS TAX

"There was still one other measure of great importance which was not originally an administration measure, but which came from the Assembly itself and that was the increase of the gas tax from three cents to four cents.

"I say it was not an administration measure. I want to give you the background for the need for this increase.

"This one cent additional gas tax will yield about eight and a half million dollars and it is distributed as follows:

"Sixty per cent to the State Highway System;

"Thirty per cent to the Secondary System—County and township roads.

"Ten per cent to Municipalities.

"The 60 per cent which will amount to five million dollars per year, nearly replaces county participation of the State Highway System, which has existed for many years up to and including the year 1928, this money being raised by bond issues and direct taxation on property in the various parts of Ohio.

"The General Assembly in 1928, repealed the law providing for county direct tax cooperation, except in the eight most popular counties of the State. Thus, you will see that without any increased gas tax the State Highway System would have been short five million from the amount enjoyed by our system last year. You could not permit so large a sum of money to be taken from the State Highway System without breaking down the program so obviously needed.

"It would have been far more costly to the traveling public had we permitted it than the increase in gas tax will cost.

"The secondary system, where we have some thirty thousand miles of county and township roads which are yet unimproved in the State will receive about two and a half million dollars or around $1800 per township per year. This will enable the building of about 2,000 miles of good gravel roads and is a practical method of farm relief.

"The opening up of lanes of travel to the main market roads is of advantage not only to the farmer, but also to the merchants and wage earners as well because the commodities of the farm may be transported at a lowered cost and this exchange for the products of industry is helpful to all.

"The need is here for wider bridges and stronger bridges, the widening of roads and the building of more permanent highways.

"We now have more than two million motor vehicles traveling the highways and byways of the State and demands are coming with greater force than ever before to extend the State System and improve the 11,000 miles we now have under State control.

"To meet these needs, the gas tax was enacted. It is a just tax, because it places the burden upon those who travel the roads and lifts from the shoulder of the property owner oppressive assessments due to road construction and which these property owners had to pay.

"Under the old system, under county participation, the property owners were taxed for the benefit of the traveling public, 87 per cent of which was urban.

"I have told you something of our legislation program. May I briefly sketch a few phases of our administration responsibilities?

"In April, 1929, I sent a letter to the Director of Highways and to the Public Utilities Commission, asking for a survey of dangerous grade crossings.

"Recently a report was made showing there were 6,005 unprotected crossings in the State and that in the last five years 1960 persons had lost their lives on these crossings.

"I am glad to say that the railroads have shown a splendid spirit of cooperation with the Utilities Commission in this matter and the more dangerous railroad crossings will have such protection within a year and we shall work along until there will be the fullest protection in connection with all the dangerous railroad crossings in the state.

"Our Highway building program has been going forward with increased impetus. Lettings have been held every month since March this year and it is planned to continue such lettings right through the winter.

"We will build more miles of permanent State Roads in 1930 than has ever been built in the history of the State in a like period of time.

"I believe it will be a matter of common interest to you to know that we have extended the principle of competitive letting to every type of highway work which can be definitely planned and specified. This system has resulted and will continue to result in great economy.

"The Welfare Department is one of the most important functions of Government. We expend around ten million dollars per year 28 per cent of the total revenue.

"We have some 33,000 people in our various state institutions, 17,000 in round numbers mentally ill, and 10,500 in our penal and correctional institutions.

"I need but call attention to a few figures to impress upon your minds the lack of interest on the part of our State to its responsibility in meeting a most serious matter. This lack of interest has wrought great harm upon suffering individuals.

"Since 1911, when the Department of Welfare took over the supervision of State Institutions, our population has been increasing most rapidly. There has been recorded a gain in this state of more than 2,000,000 people during the past 18 years, yet, with the completion of the new plant at Apple Creek, we will have added but three new institutions to care for an increase of 12,000 in the number of our State wards.

"There were 17 years ago 19,458 in our 21 state institutions and there are now but 24 institutions to care for the present population of 32,228 state wards that must be provided for by the State of Ohio.

"We have almost doubled our institutional population, and the urgent need for additional state welfare requirements is made plainly evident by the facts which we cannot ignore.

"I recently attended the Conference of Governors in New London, Connecticut. At this Conference were represented some of the leading chief executives of the various states of the Union.

"One of the important matters discussed at the conference dealt with the welfare problem.

"I asked the question not once but many times in talks which I had with Governors as to what was their biggest problem and invariably received the answer 'Human welfare is our greatest and gravest problem.'

"That means that these states have been neglectful until today the situation has become menacing. Virtually all are faced with an inadequacy of facilities which is little short of appalling. What is true in other States is true in Ohio.

"As I went through our State Hospital at Athens and our Epileptic Institution at Gallipolis, I realized the imperative need for an awakening of all of our people in order that we may more adequately meet our responsibilities.

"You will be shocked as I was shocked to know that while the Gallipolis Hospital houses more than 2,000 people afflicted with epilepsy, yet if we were to build another institution as large as the one at Gallipolis somewhere in the northern or central Ohio, our necessities are such that we could fill it within thirty days after its completion.

"What is true in this instance is equally true as to the needs for other welfare institutional expansion.

"That is what I mean when I say Ohio has been indifferent to the growing need, menacing to individuals and to society as a whole.

"When I realize that thousands of the mentally ill are denied the right to enter these doors, because we have not the facilities to take care of them; when I see 30 per cent of those outside who are groping in mental darkness that might well be restored to the sunlight of reason, if Ohio were doing its part, then I become eager to hasten the day when the state may do its full duty in so great a humanitarian cause.

"EDUCATION PROGRESS

"We are today expending approximately $17,000,000 per annum for higher education, and we are sending $4,000,000 out into the weaker school districts of the State. Certainly there is no more important responsibility which the state can assume than that which has to do with the proper mental preparation of the youth to carry on responsibilities which soon must be placed upon them."

"Influenced by Bible

"The list of authors whose work shows the influence of the Bible might be said to be endless, but we cite a few examples: Coleridge said, 'Intense study of the Bible will keep any man from being vulgar in point of style.' Daniel Webster said, 'If there be anything in my style or thought to be commended, the credit is due to my kind parents in instilling into my mind an early love of the Scriptures.' A Scotch nurse taught Byron to love the Bible and the 'Hebrew Melodies' are drawn wholly from the Scriptures. In Robert Burns' 'The Cotter's Saturday Night,' there are some 20 Biblical references.—Washington Star.

ASSIST AT PARTY IN CHILLICOTHE

Elaborately beautiful yellow and orchid luncheon-buffet with which Mrs. Harry Levy of N. High-st. entertained at the Wadner Hotel, Chillicothe on Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

The dining room of the hotel presented a picture of autumnal beauty, in which palms and ferns furnished the background, with lovely, shaggy yellow chrysanthemums in bud vases wreathed with ferns afforded the central decorations at twenty tables. The favors were yellow boat shaped baskets, bearing the place cards. The service earned the color note for the party.

A luncheon of three delicious courses was luxuriously served, while a delightful musical program was presented by Mrs. Bess Stevenson and Walter Reis, violinist, with Mr. W. Andrew McNellis accompanying them on the piano. Mrs. Stevenson's numbers were: "Carmen," a Spanish waltz, "Land of the Sky Blue Water," Cadman, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stultz, "God Touched the Rose," Brown, sung with violin obligato.

Following the play, trophies for scoring were awarded Mrs. Richard Schachne, Mrs. Tobias Edinger and Mrs. Gus Miller with three highest scores and Mrs. Edward Pohlman for low score.

Mrs. W. J. Graham of Circleville assisted Mrs. Levy in receiving. Other assisting hostesses were Mrs. A. J. Lyle, Mrs. John Franklin, Mrs. Marshall Fenton, Mrs. Myer Cohen, Mrs. Charles Wilkins, Mrs. Howard Teter and Mrs. John Hutchinson.

Guests from a distance were Mrs. W. J. Graham and Mrs. A. J. Lyle, Circleville; Mrs. J. D. Gardner, Kingston; Mrs. Vernon Hopkins, Cleveland; Mrs. Max Whaley, Mrs. Charles Abernethy and Mrs. James Abernethy of Frankfurt.

"MY little son, George, became bilious, pale, and listless," says Mrs. G. C. Kohl, 1155 Oxford Road, Cleveland, Ohio. "He was never hungry and didn't digest what he ate. He was constipated."

"I decided to try California Fig Syrup; and it has been a blessing. Now his bowels are regular; he has a better appetite and perfect digestion. I give him a little Fig Syrup, now and then, when he seems to need its help, and it keeps him gaining."

Sun Is Comparatively Cold Beside Aldebaran

The hottest known thing in the universe is said to be the red star known as Aldebaran, which is a sun like our sun, but vastly bigger. Astronomers reckon that its heat temperature is about 80,000 degrees Centigrade, as compared with the more 6,000 degrees that constitute the surface temperature of our sun. But Aldebaran is so far away from us—nearly two million times as far from the earth as is our sun—that the amount of heat we get from it doesn't count. The sun on the other hand, is so to speak, quite close to us. It is a huge ball of incandescent gas, and it is the heat rays emanating from this gigantic furnace that burn your face brown in summer after having traveled 32,000,000 miles through space. These rays travel outward from the sun in all directions, which is well for us; because if they were focused, even for a single second, on this earth, it would explode like a gigantic bombshell changed instantaneously into blazing hot gas.

FAIRER TAXATION

Chicago, is in a bad way for funds, especially school funds. The city and county boards of education have been facing the necessity of either closing down for a couple of months or finding new financial resources to tide them over temporarily. Thousands of city employees, in various departments may be obliged to take a long, forced vacation without pay.

The governor of Illinois, asked to call a special session of the legislature to enact remedial revenue measures, says this cannot be done without increasing the tax rate. He is unwilling to do that because the rate is already high, and 85 per cent of the taxes in the state are taxes paid by real estate, and it would be wrong to impose any further burden on that class of property.

"The enormous wealth of the state represented by 'intangibles' such as securities," he remarks, "pay proportionately very little tax. Theoretically these values are taxed but actually they contribute but little to the revenue. Our constitution was drafted when Illinois was essentially an agricultural state. Most of the property was in land and the products of labor—houses, barns and farm implements. Since that time the character of our wealth has materially changed. But the land, houses and barns and the land have added, their equivalents in city and real estate still bear the burden of taxation."

This same situation exists, in varying degrees, in most of the other states. Only a few have adopted a modern system taxing all present property values fairly, classifying them for whatever rates can be equitably and profitably obtained from them. There are few public questions really more important than this, and few so little understood.

HOPE FOR VIRGIN ISLANDS

A group of representatives from the U. S. Bureau of Efficiency has left for the Virgin Islands to study the financial, economic, social and industrial life of the people. This is said to be an unprecedented undertaking. The study is to be made at the request of the House committees on appropriations and interstate and foreign commerce and the Senate committee on territories and insular possessions.

The Virgin Islanders expected a great improvement in their condition when wealthy and powerful Uncle Sam purchased their islands. Nothing happened, however, except the war, a hurricane prohibition and post-war deflation. They didn't care for any of these things, and blamed them all indiscriminately on the United States.

It is expected in Washington that the report will contain a number of recommendations looking to the welfare of the Islanders. The inhabitants themselves are said to anticipate great improvement from this study and any action that follows it.

Incidentally the rest of us, who ordinarily forget that our government owns these small island possessions, may learn something about them.

One good thing about speculation is if you look at it that way, as the speculator is likely to get a lot more mileage out of the old bus and more wear out of his old coat.

We wouldn't mind Mussolini so much if he didn't always look as if he thought he had to look like that in order to keep the world properly subdued.

THE FIRST WARNING

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Upon the death of her father, "Happy Jack" Van Slaick, once wealthy sportsman and social leader, Nathalie Van Slaick, young and beautiful, finds herself left a few dollars and an old, abandoned Long Island estate called "The First." After being coldly repulsed by her rich aunt, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, Nathalie in desperation cashes a check for $500 for which there are no funds. Without her knowledge, John Sloan, young lawyer, assigned to her affairs, makes the check good. Fearing that a detective is trailing her, Nathalie leaves a train at Brookville, Long Island. From the president of the local bank, a mercenary Shylock, who holds the mortgage on "The First," which he desires because the new state road will enhance its value, Nathalie accepts a strange proposition. It is to act as hostess at "The First," which is to be rented to a wealthy South American who wishes to entertain his friends. On the condition that her identity remains hidden by wearing a silken mask, Nathalie meets the handsome foreigner, who turns out to be Capt. Ramon Stefano, supposedly of great wealth and much sought after by the young smart set. He does not know that he has previously met her, Nathalie, with a black transformation and Spanish costume and the mask, is unrecognizable.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XIII.

IT WOULD have amazed Nathalie especially—and have alarmed the dread which walked with her of being sought by detectives because of her bad check—if she could have known that the man who was financing Stefano was no other than the "dubious person" in the dark suit and terry hat who had followed her to Southampton and missed her on the train coming back.

She had been right in assuming him to be a policeman in plain clothes for he had been a policeman once and still carried the indelible marks of it in his appearance and demeanor. But he had not come to Southampton to arrest her—but to buy the First from her if he could and, if she could not, to pay reasonably well for it. So far as he understood honorable conduct, his intentions toward her were honorable.

His name was Ferris—Jack Ferris—and he had been a career man attached to police headquarters his work had taken him among gamblers, so in business and thieves on a large scale, and he had learned how money was made. Determining to amass for himself a modest fortune, he had then and then out of the police force, he had been a detective.

As a "quartermaster" or plain clothes man attached to police headquarters his work had taken him among gamblers, so in business and thieves on a large scale, and he had learned how money was made. Determining to amass for himself a modest fortune, he had then and then out of the police force, he had been a detective.

Incidentally the rest of us, who ordinarily forget that our government owns these small island possessions, may learn something about them.

DR. COPELAND SAYS— Containers and Your Health

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THIS article was written on a railroad train between Detroit and Washington. In the dining car I looked over the menu to find out how many of the dishes served came in cans, bottles, or other packages.

It is surprising how many do come in that form. Let me enumerate: Orange marmalade, strained honey, pineapple, figs, preserved strawberries, clam bouillon, Boston brown bread, cookies, grape juice, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice, doughnuts, maple syrup, coffee, cocoa, milk, malted milk and yeast cakes.

Practically everything served is received on the car in the original wrapping. Even the bread comes this way, I assure you. The fish, eggs, meat and potatoes are almost the only articles purchased in bulk.

The other day I was thinking about Commander Byrd and his gallant boys at the South Pole. They couldn't be there at all without processed and packaged foods, could they?

Napoleon said, "An army travels on its stomach." An explorer does, too. No exploration could succeed without some sure and safe manner of carrying its food supply. The commercial canners and food merchants make possible such trips, far from sources of daily supply.

It is not alone the traveler to the poles, or the traveler on train, who depends on commercially prepared foods. Mr. Average Man today would be greatly inconvenienced without them.

Many of our foods perhaps most of them, can be prepared just exactly as well and in some instances better, by quantity production. Fruits and vegetables are processed where they are grown. They need not be pickled green and transported long distances for home preparation. At the field and orchard they are made ready for our use.

There can be no question of the wholesomeness and digestibility of such foods. The best of chemists and bacteriologists are in the employ of these commercial concerns. Every check and balance needed for safety is employed. The relationship of the given food to health is never overlooked.

That Word "Jamboree"

An English scoutmaster states that the word "Jamboree" means "jam" sweet and "bore" squeeze or squash. The last two syllables "bore" come from the aborigines of Australia, and describe their crowded council meetings. The Australian scouts call their rallies "borees." In amusing defiance of all these explanations Sir Robert Baden-Powell, when asked where the word "Jamboree" came from, replied: "Well, it will do as well as any other word, won't it?"

THEATRES

AT THE MET

What happens when a big butter-and-egg man hits the high spots on Broadway is vividly and comically depicted in Mack Sennett's first feature length all-talking comedy "Mighty Daddies," featuring Harry Gribbon and Andy Clyde and which will be the attraction on the bill at the Met theater starting Sunday.

Clyde, co-feature with Gribbon, will be seen as a prosperous mid-western business man who comes to New York. The proprietor of a fashionable, but money-losing modish shop, tries to induce the unwary small-town financier to become a partner in the failing business, and Clyde is unwittingly ensnared by a good-looking model of the gown shop.

Rosemary Theby, famous star of feature comedy and dramatic productions, is cast as the wife of the unwilling "angel" whose money is sought by the schemers. Vernon Dent, featured in many laughmakers, and Jack Cooper, also a well known comedian, are seen as the male modiste and the owner of the show. Gribbon is the scheming manager of the place and the "vamp" who almost ensnares Clyde is played by Alma Bennett. Addie McPhail, the favorite model of the establishment is seen as Gribbon's sweetheart.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Some of the best sound recording and one of the most human realistic celluloid yarns since the films became vocal unrolls at the Cliftona theatre Friday and Saturday.

The film is called "Hard to Get," but it isn't hard to take. Dorothy Mackail stars in its first National Vitaphone.

Miss Mackail was never better but even her most radical "fans" will have to admit that she owes a great deal to the wonderful teamwork of the supporting cast in "Hard to Get." What a "wow" of a cast for a talkie!

There's that young man, Charles Delaney, who plays opposite. He entered pictures as a stunt flier, having been a World War ace. Strange to say, although he has never been on the stage, the talking pictures brought him right to that pot of gold at the end of the film rainbow.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Gloria Swanson's voice object of greater anticipation among picture-fans than any other-voice in filmdom, is heard for the first time in "The Trespasser," her latest United Artists picture.

Miss Swanson "both sings and talks in this new opus

Her spoken lines are the more effective because "The Trespasser" is a play of modern life constructed to meet the requirements of the new screen medium, rather than a story designed for a silent picture, into which dialogue has been injected.

Her singing likewise is expected to be more highly appreciated, because the two songs she offers interpret the mood of the story and sustain its tempo, instead of disrupting its trend of thought.

In addition to serving as the medium of her vocal debut, "The Trespasser" presents Miss Swanson once again as a woman of fashion, with a wardrobe of gowns, wraps and negligees which are ultra modern in every detail.

"The Trespasser," which will be the attraction at the Cliftona theatre beginning Sunday is a drama of the moment. Its setting is Chicago; its environment the "smart set." And through its intimate study of a girl who becomes a trespasser in this restricted social sphere and in the lives of its people, the story delves into vital affairs of life.

AT THE GRAND

Al Wilson, the flying ace, appears at the Grand theatre Friday in a fast show entitled "The Sky Rider."

Al is a small town genius who is laughed at by his home folks, until he takes the air with his flying gas and across state alarhorn. The ninth chapter of the Pirate of Panama is also listed.

In northern Africa, shell heaps have been found dating back 25,000 years; in Denmark 10,000 years, and in Great Britain over 5,000 years. All the way up the Atlantic coast from Florida, traces of shell heaps have been found in great numbers, and those engaged in research work have ascertained that these heaps exist along the coast to Greenland, and Iceland, as well as Britain and the north of France. CONSTRUCTION HEADS MEET

Eager To Co-operate With Hoover On Prosperity Program.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The construction kings of the country—the men who influence building and those who supply the materials for building—came to Washington today to contribute their bit toward President Hoover's effort to carry American business through the oncoming winter on a basis of prosperous activity. The president attaches great importance to the keeping of construction activity at a high level, as evidenced by the great expansion he has ordered in the government's own program, and he turned to the builders today for further support along this line. He found the builders eager to co-operate.

But the little one insisted. "But, mother," she said, "what do you suppose Aunt Lolly gave me that dress for—a souvenir?"—New York Sun

ACTOR ADMITS SHOOTING GIRL

Says: Finger Caught on Trigger As Divorcee Tried To Snatch It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Police investigating the fatal shooting of Gertrude Hawkins Lavine, pretty 26-year-old divorcee, by Lawrence Tulloch, actor, writer and radio production manager, today centered on finding a motive for the shooting. Possibility of a suicide pact was considered.

Tulloch after 18 hours of denials confessed having fired the shot that ended the life of the girl in his Telegraph Hill bungalow in the center of San Francisco's Bohemia.

But he continued to insist today after hours of grilling that the shooting was accidental and entirely unpremeditated.

Police filed a charge of first degree murder against the former University man and professional belief they would find a motive for the shooting which would throw an entirely different aspect on the case.

Tulloch's break was dramatic. He had told police Mrs. Lavine had shot herself while he was temporarily absent from the room. Medical examination had seemed to bear this out. The bullet had been fired from a point close to the girl's head. Police were not satisfied and continued to grill Tulloch.

"I've made a mistake," he finally cried. "I didn't want to tell the truth because I was afraid of being accused of murder. But my lies are piling up—like a snowball rolling down hill. I'll come clean."

He told of dining with Mrs. Lavine, of an after dinner gathering at his apartment, of rounds of drinks and finally of a midnight tete-a-tete with her when all the guests had left and his roommate, William Whittle, had retired for the night.

"Gertrude and I started talking of our troubles. She had been divorced and so had I. In some way the conversation turned to guns. I told her I had a revolver. She said she would like to see it. I went to a dresser drawer and got it.

"As I came back she reached for it—I tried to snatch it away, and, in some manner my finger caught in the trigger. It went off and she fell over. Then I called the police."

Police sought to learn the identity of the man who was the subject of an elaborate "love chart" found in Mrs. Lavine's bungalow adjoining that of Tulloch.

"KONJOLA MADE AMAZING CHANGE IN MY HEALTH"

For Eight Years Man Sought In Vain For Escape From Indigestion and Rheumatism.

MR. GORDON G. MASSENA
"For eight years I had a most severe case of indigestion," said Mr. Gordon G. Massena, 2 Wells street, Ashtabula, Ohio. "Rheumatism finally developed and settled in my hips and back. Every followed every meal, with belching, bloating and sharp pains. I had frequent headaches and was badly constipated.
"But Konjola lost no time in bringing results. Just as I was told it would, this master medicine went right to work. The constipation was eliminated in no time and then my digestion began to improve. Day by day my old appetite came back to me, and soon I could eat anything I wanted. Then the rheumatic pains became less severe. Konjola made an amazing change in my health and I praise it highly."

Notice to the public

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

LUTHERANS TRY TO WHIP OHIO UNIVERSITY IN FINAL CONTEST

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—The 1929 football review, which is passing in a glamorous and blustering array before thousands of football fans, will make its final bow this afternoon and Saturday in a brilliant series of gridiron classics. Some of the participants will make encore appearances on Thanksgiving Day.

Ushering the last act onto the football stage will be the Ohio University-Wittenberg clash at Athens this afternoon. The Lutherans were out to spoil the perfect record of the Bobcats and to better their standing in the Big Six. This may be Coach Stobbs' last game in the Buckeye conference as stove league gossip reports that Wittenberg may be dropped from the B. A. A. Coach Don Peden's flashy pigskin artists have the decided edge by reason of their record of no defeats and no ties, and also by virtue of the fact that they are champions of the Buckeye Athletic Association.

Wittenberg has a strong line, with Edwards and Zarna as the mainstays. But then Ohio University's backfield members have winged feet and hinged hips.

WESLEYAN COMING

And, while history is being thus made, the Ohio Wesleyan Battling Bishops will be at West Point, N. Y., where they hope to beat Christopher Cagle and the rest of the Army, including Maude, the mule mascot, tomorrow, Captain "Biff" Jones, of the Cadets, intends to start his first team. He realizes that the Bishops are no set-up, and that they will invade his chalk-marked battlefield full of that Ohio fighting spirit, which has won many a football tilt. However, it must be said that the Army pigskin charges are the decided favorites. Wesleyan has everything to gain and nothing to lose. It is just the opposite with the future-generals. They have everything to lose and a win over Ohio Wesleyan won't give them much more prestige than they possess already.

The scribe doesn't know the result, but there is one thing that should be chronicled. Cagle won't make very much yardage around Wesleyan's left end. Floyd Siegenthaler, Alliance end, will be guarding that flank and it takes all of the king's horses and all of the king's men to outplay that griddler. He is really good. Army will find out.

Tuning in on the Talkies

THE problem of what to wear never reaches Kim Tim Tim, dog star of the screen and out the sky he dresses all of his roles in short pants.

Nothing useless goes to waste in the movies.

The part who are to read the titles, about now, have the theme songs.

Dolores Costello

"The Tender Heart" somehow recalls the time Dad spent with us in the woodshed.

The contents of "The Argyle Case" is not such a bad thing to see.

When Warner Bros. offered Winnie Lightner a contract to star in Vitaphone pictures "She Couldn't Say No" And that determined the title of her talkie

Deliver us from a talkie of the Glue Gunner, which is now being shown in native tongue.

One picture is worth a million words, according to a famous editor. And the talkies are supplying the picture and the words.

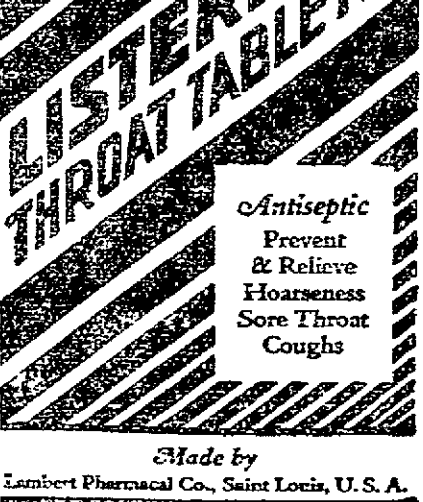

Four "Double Feature" Day "The Dare Devil's Reward," "Ponder My Back"

They only pretend to kiss in the movies. Being paid to kiss a screen queen and then not doing it is a mean form of sabotage.

Another "Siam" at Manhattan? John Barrymore and his bride, Dolores Costello, are visiting New York. And Miss Costello's new picture is "Hearts in Dixie."

Man's success in his fight for existence will depend more and more upon his ability to control insect pests destroying agricultural crops.

ZUPPKE'S TEAM ARRIVES FOR OHIO CONTEST

Deceptive Plays To Play a Big Part In Outcome—Illinois Favored.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—A man by the name of Robert C. Zuppke arrived in Columbus today and he was accompanied by 31 young men whose broad shoulders and springy stride gave evidence that they were football players.

"George"—most pullman conductors are called George—confirmed the supposition and told the scribe that the youths boarded his train at Evanston, Ill.

Further inquiry and the labels upon the young feller's grips proved beyond further doubt that the 31 huckees were the varsity gridders of Illinois.

Usually when Illinois comes here there is a "Big Ten" title at stake, but when the "orange and black" parade out into the Ohio stadium to meet Coach Sam Willaman's charges tomorrow it will be the fourth time in 16 years that there was no championship to be decided.

No matter where they look, Ohio State supporters can find no real reason for optimism. To date, the scarlet and gray warriors have shown a woeful lack of a scoring punch, and their aerial attack, which was their pride earlier in the season, has gone lame.

USE DECEPTION
Several new deceptive plays were taught to the Bucks during the past week, and Willaman hopes that they will prove of great value.

Coach Zuppke probably has plenty of tricks up his sleeve, however, and if the Buckeyes are as helpless against trick plays as they were in the Northwestern game, the tilt is now on ice for the Illini.

The veteran Evanston mentor and his cohorts are quartered at the Athletic Club here.

A banquet, which is to be held tonight, will find the Illinois gridders on one side of the table and Ohio State's pigskin craftsmen facing them. It is a gesture of "good-fellowship."

But such a spirit will be forgotten tomorrow afternoon, when the biggest football game to be played in Ohio this season, will be fought.

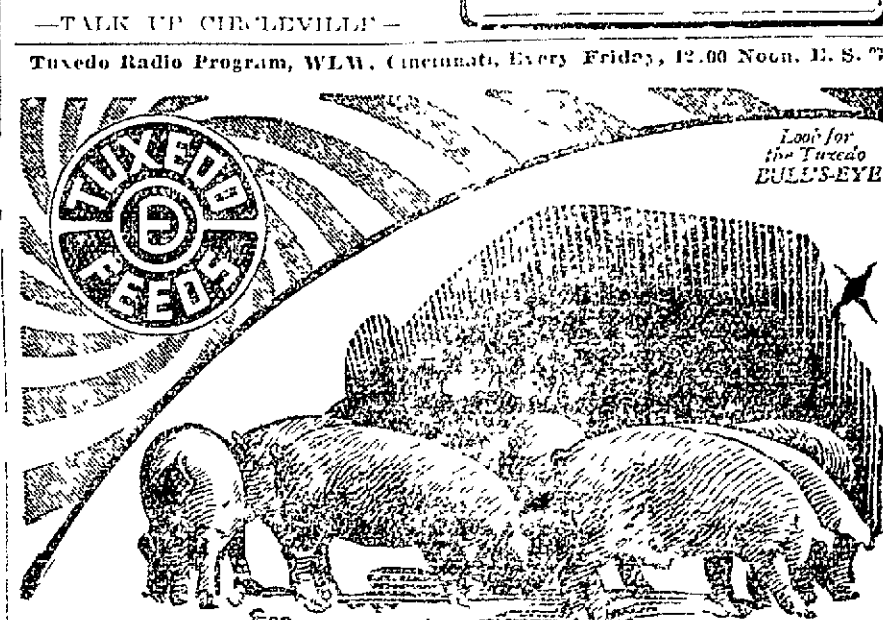

The condition of Mrs. Christian Schwarz, who is ill at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Leist of N. Court-st is not encouraging.

"THAT LITTLE GAME"—ANYTHING FOR LUCK
WELL, MALCOLM, HOW'S THE OLD SUPERSTITIOUS STUFF WORKIN' OUT? DID I DEAL YOU A NICE "PAT"?
PAT? WHY, IF I EVEN GOT A HIGH PAIR THERE'D BE AN EARTHQUAKE AND IT WOULD BE SPLIT IN THE EXCITEMENT.
DID YOU EVER SQUEEZE YOUR LEFT EAR FOR LUCK?
I'LL TELL YOU HOW TO GET GOOD CARDS.—BUY A TWO BUCK DECK.
SHUCKS! FOUR BULLETS! NOW I'M IN A BAD STREAK, TOO.
WELL,—CHIRP SUMPIN', FIRST SAY,—CHIRP SUMPIN'.
